

Recommended Software for Research

BiblioExpress is a freeware for making bibliographies. The 'industry' standard is Endnote.

Infomagic is a free note-taking software, and would help you to keep your research notes in a digital format. The 'industry' standards are Infoselect and Zoot. You may also want to try Microsoft Onenote.

Making a Bibliography

Here is a list of the most used databases and other sources you need to use for creating a bibliography about your building. You will have to learn to check them in a number of ways: sometimes using the name of your building, sometimes using the architect's name etc.

- Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals
- Bibliography of the History of Art
- JSTOR:
- World History Collection
- LexisNexis Academic
- Google Scholar

You must also check the books and articles that you find from these searches as they will also contain bibliographies.
