

“Relationship” – resources
develop slowly

The properties preventing imitation hamper transferability.

Profitability is ultimately a result of resources, not strategy.

“Strategy by analogy” is a common, and often unsuccessful behavior.

New product development in concert with independent suppliers raise difficult incentive problems.